Carmangay Fair

Aug. 9th-10th

The Carmangay Fair is the next event of importance in the near future. August 9th and 10th, being the dates. The first day will be largely devoted to the placing of exhibits and the judging of ladies' work and domestic manufactures. This day, with the exception of a senior baseball game in the evening be largely devoted to juvenile sports of all kinds and the children should be taken on this day as well as the second day. This fair has been steadily growing in importance and is undoubtedly one of the best events of its kind in the southern part of the province or, for that matter, the northern part as well. The prize list is extensive as well as generous in its application to every class of farm produce and live stock. It is the only local fair available easily to people of the Champion district and a more general effort to enter exhibits and attend the fair in person would have a decidedly beneficial effect. Champion has always been represented to some extent in the exhibits at this fair but there is every opportunity to extend both exhibits and attendance. Carmangay is our nearest neighbor and the friendly feeling existing between the two points could be enlarged with mutual benefit. By all means try to make an exhibit at the Carmangay Fair and take a day off to see just what progress this section of the country is making in production along farming and domestic science lines.

C.W.L. Bake Sale

Saturday Afternoon

The ladies of the Catholic Women's League will hold a bake sale in the old bank building on Saturday afternoon, commencing at 2:30. These sales are always attractive events to housekeepers in Champion and vicinity as mostly everything good to eat may be secured on these occasions, and doubtless the usual "sold out" sign will again be in evidence on Saturday.

Bridget Family

Leaves for Toronto

E. Bridget and family, after a residence here of some years, Mr. Bridget having been agent of the British American Oil Co., leave this week for Toronto, Ont., where they will reside in future. Many friends here will wish them success in their new home.

Local and General

Mrs. E. F. Crawford and daughters are expected back from Sylvan Lake this week.

Miss Margaret Carlson returned Saturday from a week's visit with friends at Granum.

R. Gardner and family are spending their holidays at Frank, where Mrs. Gardner's parents reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Newman and daughter of Trail, B. C., are on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Stephenson. Mr. Newman is Mrs. Stephenson's sister.

The Ladies' Aid meeting held at Mrs. J. D. McDougall's on Thursday, July 26th was well attended, despite the large number away on their holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Harper, Mr. and Mrs. O. Harper, Miss Genevieve Harper and H. Lusk, the latter of Calgary, are holidaying at Waterton Lakes.

Mr. and Mrs. Chal. Matlock, accompanied by the former's mother, Mrs. J. P. Matlock, returned recently from a trip to Spokane and other coast points, having covered a distance of some 3,000 miles during their absence.

C. E. Anderson

Starts Harvest

C. E. Anderson cut fall wheat, rye and barley this week, beginning on Monday. As far as can be learned this was the first cutting to be done in this district. A McCormick Deering swather was the implement used.

War on Weeds

Becomes General

It is a pleasure to note the interest that has been aroused in this municipality in the control of noxious weeds. Between the efforts of the weed inspector and other authorities public feeling has become aroused and in every direction weeds on the roads and in the edges of the field have been cut and otherwise destroyed. Those who have found sow thistle on their premises have, as far as can be learned, made every effort to keep this pest under control. All the other noxious weeds are bad but sow thistle is so emphatically worse that no effort should be spared to prevent it getting a real foothold in this district. The work which has been done this year could not fail to be appreciated by everyone, and the evidence of public feeling aroused in this connection is extremely gratifying. It will be a long, hard fight, but victory will be achieved if the movement against the weeds is general.

Big Preparations

For Harvest

Combines, binders, twine and everything that pertains to harvesting operation is here in quantity. The grain is making rapid progress and cutting should be general by Aug. 20 to 25. Already fall wheat, rye and barley have been cut and many fields of these grains are almost ready for harvest operations. So far in this immediate district no damage has been done by hail, and some lodged wheat, due to the wind is the only damage to report. Present indications are that last year's record of over one and one-half million bushels of wheat will at least be equalled if not exceeded. In addition there is every indication that damage which resulted in lower grades last year will be absent when this crop is harvested.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Clapp are holidaying at Sylvan Lake.

D. and F. Cool returned recently from a visit to Seattle and other coast points.

Mrs. R. M. Gardner and family left for Frank where she will visit her parents.

Molly Bastin and Forbes McGillivray were successful in passing grade XI departmental examinations.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner and family of Edmonton, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Summers.

Mrs. L. M. Groves, who has been on a visit to relatives in Michigan, returned home during the week.

Mrs. G. F. Smith, Mrs. Thompson, Master George Smith and Max Groves left this week for Banff, Lake Louise and other mountain resort points. They were joined at Calgary by Miss Rachel Smith.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

While there is a temporary feeling of disgust when the electric lights go out and the old oil and gasoline lamps have to be dug up on a busy Saturday evening, the prompt efforts made by the Power Co. officials to remedy the damage caused by lightning must be appreciated generally. It has been unfortunate that almost all the lapses in electric light supply have occurred here on Saturday night, with business at its height, but this is one of the cases of Providence, for which the electric fortunately are not responsible.

These may be considered the "dog days," or at least there have been several dog days in the past two weeks. When all the people are at home the collection of dogs we have in Champion do not appear so formidable in numbers, size or personality. When the people thin out during July and August the place seems to be mostly all dogs. Dogs, too, seem to be affected by very warm weather and they take more than the usual satisfaction out of barking at everything and biting one another, dog fights being the biggest attraction for spectators on dull, hot days. However, with the return of the tourists and with cooler weather prevailing the outstanding "dog days" will not recur for another year.

FRANCO-BRITISH COMPROMISE ON NAVAL MATTERS IS NOW REACHED

London, July 31.—Details of a Franco-British naval compromise mentioned by Sir Austen Chamberlain, the British foreign secretary, in the house of commons yesterday, are stated to have been called to the British ambassador at Washington where they are expected to be presented today or tomorrow.

A government spokesman told the Associated Press today that a compromise had been reached between the two methods of naval armament reduction on which previous conferences have split, namely, limitation by total tonnage favored by France, and by categories, favored by Great Britain.

The question of submarine construction is definitely involved in the compromise, the spokesman said. London, July 31.—Possibility of renewed discussions among the naval powers, hinging on the submarine, was advanced by some observers today in commenting on Sir Austen Chamberlain's statement in the house of commons.

The British foreign secretary said his government had had several conversations with France regarding differences which had arisen between the two governments over naval disarmament. He announced that he was about to submit to the principal naval powers the compromise agreement which had been reached, hoping thereby to remove obstacles to the progress of the disarmament idea.

Sir Austen indicated that the first discussion of a compromise would probably be by the preparatory commission for a disarmament conference of the League of Nations. When this commission found its way brought to a stop last March through the possibility of not reaching an agreement, the question of the construction of submarines was one of the main difficulties between Great Britain and France. Observers thought that this might be the principal feature of the new compromise.

Expecting the Best

Farmers dealing with United Grain Growers expect the best in service and treatment.

They have a right to expect it, for this is a farmers' company and it has the experience, the resources, the organization and equipment to give such service and treatment.

Great Britain wanted restriction of submarine construction, but France was opposed.

Turning from the discussion of disarmament to a discussion of peace, Sir Austen made this comment in regard to the Kellogg treaty outlawing war as an instrument of national policy.

"If American opinion ranges itself behind its own treaty, then, indeed, the world will be a most formidable deterrent to war and an additional and most valuable security to peace. This is what his majesty's government hopes it will be."

Former Premier David Lloyd George said that unless the Kellogg pact were followed by disarmament by the powers and the withdrawal of allied troops from the Rhineland, the people would understand that they had been tricked and that the whole thing was "pure hooey."

SIR C. E. DENNY, FIRST MOUNTED POLICE IN WEST, DIES AT EDMONTON — CAME WEST WITH FIRST UNIT OF PLAIN RIDERS — SIGNED INDIAN TREATY

Edmonton, July 25.—One of the last survivors of the original troop of the North West Mounted Police to enter the plains in 1874, Capt. Sir Cecil Edward Denny, sixth baronet of Tralee Castle, County Kerry, Ireland, died during Tuesday night, following an illness in a local hospital.

Captain Denny was born on Dec. 14, 1850, and was educated at Cheltenham College and later in France and Germany, but at the age of 24, with the rumor that there was to be organized in the North West Territories of Canada, a mobile mounted police force similar to the Royal Irish Constabulary or the British South African police, young Denny said good-bye to his native land and made the long crossing of the Atlantic, to the land which was henceforth to be his home.

He was at once enlisted with the North West Mounted Police on his arrival in Ottawa, and when the first troop of that famous force made the long trek westward into the land of the buffalo and the red man, Captain Denny accompanied them on that historic ride, going to Macleod, and next year to Calgary, where he built Fort Calgary.

Through the ranks from sub-inspector to inspector the young subaltern was in that last year's history of the west which was written by the "Queen of Old Red Coats."

When the famous treaty of 1877 was signed with the Indians, Capt. Denny was one of the officers of the Mounted Police whose signature was affixed to that historic document which guaranteed the red man the protection of the "Great White Queen" across the seas, "no longer as the grass grows on the river."

Then came the Riel Rebellion of 1885, Denny, now an official of the federal Indian department, was placed in charge of the western plains Indians during that stirring time, and here again, that firmness and courage developed during his years in the old time, stood him in good stead.

He served for some time as a police magistrate and later retired from public life, taking up a home stead near Colinton, in the Athabasca district and combining with this duty as fire ranger along the Athabasca river in the summer time.

More recently, Captain Denny became assistant to the Alberta government, which position he relinquished about a year ago. He lived in retirement since then until his death which came quietly in his 75th year.

To but few men it is given to see the growth of a nation where half a century bridges the gap between the primitive and the civilized and Captain Denny lived to see all of that wonderful development.

The early opposition of the whiskey trader and the buffalo hunter made his way like none before of the advancing troop of men of the arctic and gold.

The red man, recognizing that there was square dealing and justice took the hand of the mountie in a grasp of fellowship that has remained firm to this day.

The buffalo herds drifted in to the mist of yesterday. The Canadian Pacific Railway thrust its steel ribbon westward to the mountains, the lumber and the farmer, the sheep herder and the squatter came and west across that vast picture of a new land in the making and through it all there rode those heroic figures of whom Captain Denny was one of the two last survivors. His was a life worth the living, not only did he make history, he himself was history.

A man given to but few confidences, Captain Denny spoke but little of his long life in the west but has immortalized his experiences in two books "Riders of the Plains," and "The Birth of Western Canada."

A private service was held on Wednesday evening, following which the body was taken to Calgary for interment there.

PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS OF CANADA, LIMITED

ANOTHER $34,000,000 FOR WESTERN FARMERS FROM LAST YEAR'S CROP

Winnipeg, July 28.—An interim payment of more than $34,000,000 is being made today to members of the Canadian Wheat Pool in the western provinces. In practically every district of Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Alberta pool members will share in the distribution, which is the largest interim payment ever made by the wheat pool.

Today's payment is the second interim one for the 1927-28 crop, the first having been made on March 10. There seems to be general satisfaction among the members as to the manner in which the various selling problems were handled and the averaged price obtained for their wheat, stated E. B. Ramsay, manager of the central selling agency, Winnipeg, in announcing the payment.

On contract grades the payment ranges from 16 cents to 25 cents per bushel; tough grades from 13½ cents to 20½ cents; Nos. 4 to 6, 11 to 15½ cents; and on No. 1, 11½ cents to 19½ cents per bushel, according to grade.

The following statement was made today by the Alberta Pool:

"As announced by our Central Selling Agency, Winnipeg, a second interim payment on deliveries to 1927-1928 Pool is being distributed under date of July 28 to our Alberta Wheat Pool members. Cheques totaling approximately nine million dollars are being mailed Saturday, July 28, and will include payment on deliveries reported to the Pool by elevator companies to June 30, and upon coupons reaching the Pool of July 10. A second issue of cheques covering later deliveries, as well as recent coupons, will go forward during the next two weeks.

"Spreads estimated at the commencement of the season have been adjusted by our Central Selling Agency in this present interim payment, according to the selling spreads of each grade of wheat, with the result that payment varies considerably on different grades. In previous years these spreads have been adjusted in our final payment.

"From this second interim payment made by our Central Selling Agency, total of 4 cents per bushel has been retained from each grade by the Alberta Pool, of which 2 cents is for the purpose of Elevator Reserve, and further 2 cents to cover Commercial Reserve and operating costs. Amount of 2 cents retained for Commercial Reserve and operating costs can only be estimated at this date, and it is anticipated amount retained for these purposes will be in excess of actual requirements, and any such surplus will be included in the distribution along with any final payment which may be available to our growers, following close of 1927-1928 Pool.

"Payments to Alberta Pool members delivering to 1927-1928 Pool, including present interim payment, as well as 4 cents retained, meantime, for Elevator and Commercial

TUNNEY KAYOS HEENEY—TECHNICAL KNOCKOUT ENDS GREAT BATTLE — CHAMPION STOPS TOM IN 11th ROUND
Yankee Stadium, New York, July 26.—Subjecting Tom Heene, New Zealand challenger to one of the most severe beatings any man ever took in any ring, Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion, tonight scored a technical knockout over the Anzac in the 11th round of a 15-round fight. Tunney knocked Heene unconscious at the close of the tenth round but the bell saved the challenger as he lay unconscious on the floor. Tunney scaled 192 pounds; Heene 203½.

Rarely has any man been subjected to the punishment Heene took after the seventh round and still keep his feet to plunge stubbornly into the champion's flailing punches. The challenger's left eye, hurt in the seventh round, left him half blinded throughout the rest of the fight. After reeling through terrific punishment in the eighth and ninth sessions, Heene collapsed under the champion's better attack just as the tenth round closed. Tom rolled on his back almost out of the ring and had to be carried to his corner. Although he revived somewhat for the eleventh Tunney crashed him into a gory figure in two minutes and 52 seconds of the round when the referee called it.

To Much

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best, say, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Please do that—for your own sake—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

The heavy rain had washed the roots of the old dead grass into the ground, leaving the bold, young shoots snowing, and the air had such a balmy mistiness that Helmi was content just to sit and breathe it and watch the clouds, clear and white like lady's hair, sailing overland in the limitless blue.

She wanted to sing a song of the passing winter, with all its strength of frost and weight of snow, its frozen rivers and leafless trees, for every budding tree and sprig of flower and carolling bird was singing it, too. She remembered a song Mrs. McMan had used to sing, when she and she and an old-fashioned thing, but she sang it to please the doctor, who liked the old songs best.

"Blue bird, true bird, bird with the golden wing,
Do you bring me a letter or do you bring me a ring?"

Helmi brought out a chair, and sitting on it, nursing her knees, she sang to perfect happiness. She had four dollars in her pocket; a sick baby in the isolation hospital; a dog with three pups to whom she had promised food and shelter; a husband who apparently had "deserted" her, not a relative nearer than Finland; but she sang a song of hope, and love, and spring, looking into the blue sky above her, for in her heart there was the peace which passeth all understanding.

Mrs. McMan, on her way to the store, saw Helmi sitting at the end of the house and heard her singing, and forthwith forgot that she had left an oven full of pies.

"Helmi," she called, as she came

Listen to shut the door at night and open it in the morning, and when Lili is better, I will come back. You will like my Lili, Mrs. McMan; she can smile now and play with her hands."

Mrs. McMan sighed. "I am always sorry when I see a girl always—life is so hard for us women."

Helmi got another letter at the post-office, a letter from Arthur Warner enclosing another fifteen dollar cheque. He was over in France now, on active service, and the letter was written as he sat waiting for the signal to go over the top in an attempt to capture a German position.

"It's good to have someone to write to Helmi, someone who cares; and I want you to do something for me. It worries me to think of my house and garden lying idle there and going to ruin. I wonder if you would go there to live. The garden has raspberries and currants and strawberries plants too, and there are provisions in the house for a year. If you go there I'll buy you a new dress, and if you have a home, she is wonderful; girl. I cannot tell you what she has been to me. And my horse, Salter, that I left with the Hensons, would be happy for you to drive to town. I would feel better if I knew you were there, dear Helmi, and I hope you will. I don't need to see reasonable to believe that I shall ever come back, but if I do, the place will be in better shape for your having occupied it. You will be doing me a good turn. Write soon and often, Helmi, please."

Helmi quickly rose up to greet her. "There's nothing wrong, Mrs. McMan. I am all right—I'm fine. I'm happy that you're well."

"But Helmi, where is your child?" Mrs. McMan was prepared to show a strong, if somewhat belated interest in Helmi's baby.

"He is all right too," Helmi said. "What is wrong with you? Have you come back?"

Voices Have Individuality

No Two Have Same Tone, Say Experts

In the blind, the faculty of hearing is usually undisturbed and one thus handicapped in speaking of voices says: "Many are similar, to be sure, but I have never encountered absolute doubles, and in general voices are as sharply differentiated as faces—in fact, often far more. The only difficulty I have experienced, strangely enough, is caused by some persons having several voices. All of us have; we change tone and quality more or less unconsciously according to our mood and condition. But in some the change is disgustingly marked. One woman, for example, has as many as five voices, each quite distinct. The physical condition is also revealed by the voice in a striking degree, both as to change and normal characteristics. Pat people, for example, have a voice quality which is all but invariably detectable. Character, too, is easily read. In fact it seems that character is revealed in the voice even more fully and accurately than in the face, no doubt because the seeing, failing to recognize this, makes less of an attempt to make the voice.

Parliamentary Courtesy

Language in the Five House Parliament is Summaries Laid

The new Plains Fall tactics of baiting the Speaker which culminated in the suspension of Mr. de Valera's chief whip, Mr. Allen, are not likely to increase the prestige of the party. In a letter to the press, Mr. Allen, in justification of his action, said that the speaker of the house, in an assembly composed of English influences could object to have to Speaker described as "a damn hypocrite," "a party hack," and "a mean skunk." Unfortunately for himself and his colleagues, the speaker is still so enslaved to an alien tradition that it regards as vulgar abuse expressions that in the Gaelic state of Mr. Allen's vision would apparently be the flower of parliamentary courtesy—Dublin Correspondence, the New Statesman.

The Thoughtful Sportsman

Grouse season had started, and in the little Highland hotel lounge some sportsman sat smoking.

"Yes," said one suddenly, "everything I shoot I send to the hospital."

"How thoughtful and kind of you," broke in another.

"Yesterday," he continued, "I shot the gamekeeper."

BABY GIRL HAD DIARRHEA WHEN CUTTING TEETH

Mrs. A. J. Murray, Galt Lake, Sask., writes: "My youngest, my baby girl, was cutless, and the very first day she was cutless, she had a severe attack of diarrhea. I was very much worried, and I was told that she should not remain quiet. At last one of my neighbors said to me, 'Have you any castor?'"

A Slight Outbreak

A farmer was accused of having slaughtered his man, making a liar? "Did you kill him a regus and a liar?" asked the judge.

"Yes, I did,"

"And did you kill him a thief?"

"No, I forgot that."

JUMPING TOOTHACHE

You have been fortunate indeed if you have never experienced that worst of all dental pains—the "jumping toothache."

But perhaps you have listened sympathetically to your little child as he tried to tell you between sobs, how he was being tortured by the jumping tooth up and down inside the tooth that pointed more and more intensely as he lay with his cheek against the pillow.

Almost instinctively, perhaps, you had him sit up, and he found happily, that it did not hurt nearly so much as when he was lying down.

Now, you thought perhaps it was because he dropped thinking about it while he was sitting up, that made the pain more bearable, but just why it "jumped" you were not so sure.

Well, so don't you have had a cut finger with an area of inflammation around the wound, and you noticed that the pain was of a throbbing character, that with each pulse beat there was a sharp little stab, so to speak.

Now, the same with the tooth, with each heart-beat, a new supply of blood is forced into the pulp, forcing the pain waves of every artery already engorged with blood, is substituted, and the increased blood pressure (at each beat), and a consequent response on part of the nerves as they are subjected to the abnormal pressure. This, we call pain.

Then with your little chap sitting up, the flow of blood to the head is lessened, resulting in a milder rush into the tooth pulp which causes a decreased pressure, with lessened pain.

"Fear not, believe only"—Luke will go.

The childlike faith that asks not sight, but faith for wonder or for sign. Believes, because it loves right. Shall see things greater, things which the things of earth cannot give. Heaven to that gaze shall open wide, And brightest angels to and fro. On messengers of light shall glide. "Text! God and Christ shall fill."

The blessed thing which the Bible calls faith, is a state of the soul in which the things of earth become glorious certainties. It matters not how it comes, whether as to Thomas through sight, or whether through the evidence of the Spirit; and yet the faith of which Christ said, "Blessed are they which have not seen and yet have believed," was a spiritual faith.

—Frederick William Robertson.

ECZEMA ITCHY PIMPLES

Affected Nearly All of Body. Cuticura Heals.

"Records broke out in pimples and eczema on my face and neck. The pimples were not very large but were red and hard. Some of them were very itchy and I scratched them. The pimples were so itchy and burned so much that I used to wake up in the night and scratch them. I tried many things but nothing helped me out very much."

"I used using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in four weeks I was completely healed, also using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment. Signed: Fredrick A. Zink, Robinson's Corner, N. B."

EDITORIAL

A current magazine says that a typical Canadian is one who will fight to defend the church he stays away from on Sunday. And we've noticed too that it is typically Canadian to knock your community while at home and then boost to beat the band as soon as you get away from home.

We have unloaded a car of Mc-Deg's Swathers and Pickups.

INSECTS

The mosquito is like a child; the moment he stops making a noise you know he is getting into something.

Chas. Anderson has swathed his rye and fall wheat with a Mc-Deg's. The "Swede" says it's a dandy.

An old bachelor is a man who failed to inform his matrimonial opportunity and is left nothing to brag but delusions.

We have just received 2 more cars of Mc-Deg's.

A St. Louis man got in trouble with the government by selling love potions and powders that were guaranteed to keep a husband at home. Most wives find their trouble is getting him out of the house.

Guy Dow, A. B. Child, and Frank C. Davis, L. Path, Fred Alder, H. C. Jopling and A. McCollough are all recent home-comers from holiday trips.

Dr. Tehyi Hsieh who will appear on the Chautauqua lecture platform on Saturday, has won golden opinions wherever he has appeared and it is hoped there will be a big turnout to hear him here.

He is a graduate of Cambridge, a Shriner, and an honorary member of the Shanghai, Glasgow and Baltimore Rotary clubs, and a member in good standing of the Boston Kiwanis club. His brother-in-law, Sir Robert Tan Jik Kim, living in the Strait Settlements, was knighted by Britain, as was his uncle, Sir Boshan Wei Yuk, who died in Hong-Kong two years ago.

Chautauqua is well under way here and everything points to the most successful session ever held in Champion, as the big tent provides the space for audiences which was frequently lacking on prior occasions.
